

Advocacy Overview...

ALAC is, essentially, an advocacy project. At the citizens level, ALAC seeks to change people's behavior so that they reject corruption and take concrete measures to combat it.

ALAC seeks to advocate for Change!

At the institutional level, ALAC seeks to change the behavior of administrators, officials, civil servants, politicians, etc., so that they implement and/or change laws and/or administrative procedures, develop political will, etc., which leads to a reduction in corruption.

Empowering people to make a stand against Corruption.

A Programme of Transparency International Fiji

What is the Advocacy and Legal Advice Centre (ALAC)?

The Advocacy and Legal Advice Centre (ALAC) Fiji is a programme of Transparency International (TI) Fiji which provides free legal advice and assistance to victims or witnesses of corruption.

The ALAC was launched in Fiji on the 30th of April 2009 by the British High Commissioner Mr Malcolm McLachlan and the Japanese Ambassador Mr Yutaka Yoshizawa, as part of a global campaign in the fight against corruption.

DJD YOU KNOW?

ALACs operate in more than 40 countries and have received more than 70,000 contacts from people from all walks of life. Their cases range from small bribery to grand corruption involving hundreds of millions of dollars.

Meet The ALAC!

AIM:

ALAC aims to:

- Empower citizens to make and pursue corruption-related complaints
- Translate these concerns into structural changes.

ACTIVITIES:

ALAC activities are to:

- Provide legal advice and assistance to victims or witnesses of corruption
- Help citizens pursue corruption-related complaints
- Undertake advocacy for broader reform

CLIENTS:

ALAC clients include:

- Vulnerable people (who frequently have no other options available)
- Empowered individuals (seeking to assert their rights and who are frequently able to effect change)

WHAT DOES ALAC ACTUALLY DO?

ALAC does 3 main things:

- Talk to people (clients)
- Help them to resolve their complaints/cases
- Use the information to advocate for change

Members of the public from Ra, Bua and Lautoka during the ALAC workshops held around the country.

WHAT WE DO NOT DO?

ALAC does not do the following:

- Investigate
- Prosecute
- Enforce cases
